Directions:

Step 1 – Start by applying 3 coats of Polar Bear to the roof of the house. Use a paper shape cutter or cut out your own small shamrocks. Place the damp paper cut outs onto the roof randomly and then apply 3 coats of Green Acres over top of the papers. Once it's dry to the touch, remove the papers with a pin or toothpick, revealing the white underneath (Paper technique).

Step 2 – Apply 3 coats of Kermit to the base of the house. Then use a wash of Black Lab to paint in the cracks of the chimney. Once it's dry, use a damp sponge to wipe the black off of the chimney, leaving it only stuck in the cracks (antiquing technique). Apply 2-3 coats of Tin Man to the chimney (mostly avoiding the cracks so the black shows through). Repeat this step for the doorstep, but since there aren't really any cracks, add some texture manually.

Step 3 – (Antique the door with Black Lab beforehand) Apply 3-4 coats of Pumpkin Pie to the shutters, top window frame, and door. Once they dry to the touch, use the following colors and a Fun Writer (or the back of a brush) to make random dot flowers on the shutters: Tweety Bird, Pool Party, This Li'L Piggy, and Polar Bear for the centers (Reference the photo).

Step 4 – Paint the roof of the top window with stripes in rainbow order. Starting from the left: Jumpin' Jelly, Anchors Away, Lime Ricky, Smiley Face, Orange Crush, and Red Blaze. Apply 3 coats of each color.

Step 5 – Use 3 coats of Old Yeller to paint the doorknob and then paint a small horseshoe next to the door and add some little coins to the front doorstep. Then paint a 4-leaf clover onto the front doorstep with 2-3 coats of Green Acres.

Step 6 – Lastly, use Polar Bear and a Fun Writer (or the back of a brush) to add dots around the base, directly under the roof. Let the whole thing dry.

Step 7 – Dip it into some Clear Glaze and fire to cone 06!
